

NOTRE DAME AND TEXAS CLASH IN WEST'S BIG TILT

Gold and Blue Expected to Beat Southerners—Syracuse and St. Louis Stage Other Inter-sectional Battle.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Thanksgiving day football in the middle west includes five games of importance this year. There are three games of interest, two for their inter-sectional nature and one from the excitement it causes in Cleveland.

At Austin, Tex., Notre Dame's fast and powerful eleven, with more than a visionary claim to high honors, will play the University of Texas. Victory should go to Notre Dame, for it is doubtful whether the Texans can frame a defense capable of stopping Eichenlaub and Dorais, who tramped over the Army and Pennsylvania State teams.

Syracuse vs. St. Louis. Syracuse, despite its beating by Michigan, has a chance to redeem itself and eastern football generally in the game with St. Louis university. The latter eleven, however, is not of high class.

Case and Western Reserve meet in annual battle at Cleveland, the gridiron event of the year in the home city of both institutions. A bitter struggle is probable.

Other games are: Miami vs. Cincinnati at Cincinnati, and South Dakota vs. Creighton at Omaha.

N. D. LOSES THREE STARS.

When the last minute of play in this afternoon's battle between Texas and Notre Dame at Austin, Texas, is over the football careers of some of the local varsity's greatest athletes will come to a close. Ex-Capt. Dorais, America's premier quarterback, Capt. Rockne, all-western end, and Fred Gushurst will make their last fight for the honor of Notre Dame on the gridiron.

In the final game of his four brilliant years as a college star, Dorais should flash the best football that is in him. Upon the generalship of the "Little Napoleon" depends Notre Dame's chances for victory, for the Texans are well versed in the open game and are prepared to baffle all of the variety's trick plays. The gold and blue adherents depend on Dorais to use the forward pass and open game to such good advantage that there will be no doubt in the south that Notre Dame is the best eleven that ever has appeared there.

In Rockne and Gushurst Notre Dame will lose a pair of stellar ends. "Rock" has played the full time allotted to college players, but "Gus" has competed for only two years in intercollegiate sport. The speedy end is eligible to play again next year but it is extremely doubtful if he will return to school for he is a senior in law this year.

Notre Dame parts with these men most reluctantly for it was their skill in engineering the successful forward passes that brought such glory to the gold and blue in college football.

OVERLOOK GREAT PLAYERS

Jones and Feeney Regarded Worthy of Consideration.

Although Notre Dame pulled down three men in the all-western honor roll, tying with Chicago and surpassing Michigan, Wisconsin and others, "Deac" Jones and Al Feeney seemed to have been overlooked entirely. Jones is a very quiet man and thus seldom comes forcibly before the notice of the press. By many he is regarded as the best tackle in the business.

On the offensive it is Jones that often makes possible Eichenlaub's success in off-tackle smashes. "Deac" was picked for second all-western last fall by R. W. Lerner but the fact that Notre Dame has seldom been seen on western gridirons this year kept the critics from noticing the stellar work of Jones. He rarely flashes anything sensational but his steady consistent work is the making of the Notre Dame line.

Feeney Ranks High.

Feeney is another man who ranks with Eichenlaub and Dorais. The sterling center is most accurate in passing and the varsity backs never have to worry over the possibility of fumbling on direct passes from him. Defensive work is a strong feature of Feeney's playing. He always follows the ball, tackles low and hard and is a wonder at intercepting forward passes. Both Eckersall and Lardner placed Feeney on their second all-western teams last fall and while the Notre Dame man cannot beat out the great Des Jardien, he comes very close to it, if he doesn't equal the Chicago pivot man.

NO HIGH SCHOOL GAME FOR THANKSGIVING

All talk concerning a high school football game Thanksgiving day was silenced Wednesday morning when Prin. Sims announced at the regular weekly assembly that the school had pledged itself to abandon this game, and could not go back on its word. The school, however, is not adverse to a game next Saturday, Nov. 29. The entire student body was invited to hand in criticisms of the Interlude. This is expected to give the editors some idea of the kind of material to publish.

Controller Ernest I. Kizer submitted a brief report of school affairs, which showed a balance on hand in the general treasury of $805.58 and in the Interlude treasury of $470.33. These funds must run the various school enterprises the remainder of the year.

Who's the Middleweight Champion?

BY TOM S. ANDREWS.

If anyone desires to "start something" let him approach a group of "fight fans" and demand the name of the middleweight champion.

The same result may be obtained at the annual convention of the knights of the road by proposing that all hands try day labor for a change. You get an argument in either case, it depending upon yourself whether it is verbal or physical.

There are many who will fight to prove their favorite is middleweight champion, and to any hobo the word "work" means fight.

As a matter of fact, ever since Stanley Ketchell was killed, we have not had a real middleweight champion; that is, a man recognized by press and public as the king pin.

There hasn't been such a mix-up since 1887, when "The Nonpareil" won the American title by beating George La Blanche in 13 rounds and John Reagan in a terrific 45-round bill. The weight limit was then about 154 or 156 pounds. When Fitzsimmons defeated Dempsey he scaled 151, but he boosted the limit to 158, where it has remained.

Ketchell always respected Bill Papke, who had beaten him, and naturally, when Ketchell was killed, Papke succeeded him as champion.

Then Papke was beaten in Australia by Johnny Thompson and later by others. It became evident Papke couldn't make 158 ringside, so several laid claim to the title, among them being Eddie McGoorty, Jack Dillon, Leo Houck, Harry Lewis, Mike Gibbons, Jim Clabby, George Carpenter, Dave Smith, Frank Mantell, Jeff Smith, George Chip and Gus Christie.

This squad has now been thinned out. Carpenter outgrew the class. It is doubtful if Dillon or Klaus can make 158 ringside.

TEXANS HAVE ONE POUND ADVANTAGE

Lineups Show That Notre Dame Squad Averages Only 171 Pounds.

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 26.—Lineups announced tonight for tomorrow's football contest between the eleven University of Texas and Notre Dame, show average weights of 172 pounds for the Texans and 171 for the Hoosier players.

Both teams had signal practice today and optimistic predictions were made in both camps tonight. The Texas eleven is regarded as the strongest school ever produced.

Sheriff Makes Use of Squad and Fleecing Victim is Soon Brought to Earth.

RENSSALAER, Ind., Nov. 26.—The local high school football team was brought into practical use for the first time here today when all the members were deputized as deputy sheriffs and captured Edward Frawley, who had escaped from Sheriff Hoover and a deputy. A flying tackle by Sam Duval, rich halfback of the team ended Frawley's flight and for a few minutes took all the fight out of the man. Frawley, who has been frequently arrested for attacking persons at Fair Oaks, near here recently was released from the insane asylum at Logansport, and before being sent to that institution had served a year in jail for beating a man at Fair Oaks.

Upon his return to his home Frawley is alleged to have bothered his divorced wife and she had him placed under peace bond.

EASTERN TEAMS TO CLOSE PLAY OF 1913 TODAY

Pennsylvania and Cornell in Feature Game at Philadelphia—Carlisle Indians and Brown to Meet.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The old custom playing the final game of the football season on Thanksgiving day is still adhered to by a few of the eastern colleges and as a result several inter-varsity contests are scheduled for Thursday.

Intersectional games of importance are Notre Dame-Texas at Austin, Tex., and Syracuse-St. Louis at St. Louis, Mo.

The feature game in the east is the meeting of Pennsylvania and Cornell at Franklin field, Philadelphia. Only the Army-Navy game is on the Saturday card.

Both Cornell and Pennsylvania have been defeated or held to tie games several times this year, yet the success of their seasons will hinge to a certain degree upon the outcome of the final contest of the schedule. To date the annual series has been overwhelmingly in favor of Pennsylvania for in the 26 games played since 1893 Cornell has won but one game and tied one. As a result of past and present season showings the Quakers are favored to continue the annual triumph over Cornell, although it is conceded that the game will be close and hard fought.

Carlisle vs. Brown.

Next in importance to the Pennsylvania-Cornell game is the contest between the Carlisle Indians and Brown at Providence. Brown, with a team considerably below the standard set by preceding elevens at the Providence university is not likely to do more than hold the red men in reasonable check.

Other games in east and south include Penna. State-Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh; Franklin and Marshall-Gettysburg at Lancaster, Pa.; Lafayette-Dickinson at Easton, Pa.; Bucknell-Washington and Jefferson at Washington, Pa.; Holy Cross-Georgetown at Washington, D. C., and Virginia-North Carolina at Richmond, Va.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Except for the final signal drill which will come tomorrow, the army is ready for its big battle on the gridiron with the navy on Saturday. The team got a snappy signal practice this afternoon in secret. All the regulars were in the lineup except Jones, right guard.

Just who Coach Daly will start against the Midgies behind the Army line is unknown. Present indications point to Hoge, Benedict and Hodgson as the most likely combination, with Hobbs, Joutet, Milbern, Laphier and Ford in reserve. Leo Leary, Harvard's end coach, arrived today and worked out with the Army mentors.

"Hurry Up" Yost left tonight for the Pennsylvania-Cornell game in Philadelphia tomorrow. The Army squad will leave here for New York at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning. They will practice on the Polo grounds in the afternoon.

WILL ATTEND.

John M. Cooney of N. Scott st., professor of journalism at Notre Dame university, will attend the second annual meeting of the American Conference of Teachers of Journalism that is to be held at Wisconsin university Nov. 28th and 29th.
